Position Announcement

Director of the Institute of International Relations

National Chengchi University

National Chengchi University is seeking a dedicated professional for the full-time position of Director of the Institute of International Relations (IIR).

The IIR was originally established as the International Relations Research Association on April 1, 1953 to provide academic insight into the Chinese Communist Party and international issues for government reference. The IIR was reorganized as the Republic of China International Relations Research Institute in 1961, expanding its communication and cooperation with domestic and international academic institutions. On July 1, 1975, the institute was further reorganized under National Chengchi University (NCCU) as the Institute of International Relations and continued to conduct research on Mainland China and international affairs. The IIR was completely integrated into NCCU as a university research center on August 1, 1996.

The IIR's primary goals include:

- 1) Building a nexus of interdisciplinary scholarship
- 2) Advocating dialogue between theory and application
- 3) Creating international cooperation through research forums
- 4) Keeping abreast of issue agendas

Additional information about the IIR can be found at: <https://iir.nccu.edu.tw/>

To ensure our institute's continued success, we are searching globally for an accomplished scholar with abundant integrity and administrative experience who is strongly committed to faculty development and research excellence.

Terms of Service

The director shall serve for a period of three years starting from August 1, 2024, subject to reappointment for a second term.

How to Apply

- A recommendation from a research center, department, graduate institute, or degree program at NCCU;
- The filing of an application;
- A recommendation or nomination from at least one third of the IIR's Search and Selection Committee.

Appointment to the Directorship

The final candidate to be determined by the President should be a full NCCU professor or have been recruited as a full professor or research fellow by the university before their inauguration as Director.

Application Deadline

A complete application or nomination package signed by the applicant must be sent by registered mail or personally delivered to the following address by 5 pm on April 19, 2024:

Ms. Tsai (Personnel Office)
c/o Director, IIR Search and Selection Committee
No. 64, Sec. 2, Zhinan Road, Wenshan District
